Camilla Gray-Nelson Receives 12th Annual Women in Business Award for Entrepreneurship

The Dog Talk Diva continues on path of leadership.

(Rohnert Park, CA, June 29, 2012)—During a gala event feting female leaders, innovators and visionaries, Camilla Gray-Nelson, President of Dairydell Inc., received The North Bay Business Journal's 2012 Women in Business Award in the category of Entrepreneurship. The event which took place at the DoubleTree by Hilton Hotel Sonoma Wine Country in Rohnert Park was themed to recognize the 40th anniversary of Title IX, the groundbreaking federal law on women's sports.

"To receive this award is an incredible honor. To receive it in a year celebrating the advances provided to women via Title IX is even more meaningful. At the core of my business ventures is a desire to empower women and this award will serve to motivate me to continue this work" said Gray-Nelson.

2012 has been a banner year for Gray-Nelson. In March, she released the best-selling book "Lipstick and The Leash: Dog Training a Woman's Way" and soon followed with the debut of her Dog Talk Diva line of products. Although the book and product line were specifically created to help women in the training and management of the family dog, Gray-Nelson readily acknowledges that she sees dog training as a metaphor for life. "I am truly passionate about sharing the secrets of quiet control and natural leadership that can help women achieve greater levels of success in all aspects of their lives."

Gray-Nelson is the author of the first dog blog for women "Dog Talk Diva" and is an in demand media personality.

Her latest venture is an educational seminar on canine body language entitled "What is my Dog Saying?" scheduled for July 8th at Dairydell Canine in Petaluma, CA. For more information on attending please call (707) 762-6111 or visit: <http://www.dairydell.com>.
